

Divine Design and how you shape your life

This was a brilliant piece that I received from Goddess while thinking about a visit with my children. What does this divine perspective change how you behave and think?

The purpose of having others around is to motivate you to greater heights and new actions. When you see what others can do then it inspires you to stretch yourself and to find new options of behaving that you did not see before. You can see this happening clearly because there are many considerations that you have now that you did not see before.

When you see others and what they do, it creates a kind of wish list for you on what you would like to do and also it makes you realize that if others can do it, so can you... if you are willing to take the time and put in the discipline to develop those skill sets. This is also true of what you learn from us.

When you see that we live a certain way and do certain things, you realize that at the soul level and even at the body level that you are capable of much more than what you previously thought. When you have a model before you and realize that activities are occurring right now, you get this sense of what is possible and what you are destined to do in the future.

The problem that you have had previously is that you have not had that many models of the divine and the models that you have are limited and sketchy about details. Now you are getting more details from us as you continue to listen and ask questions that will provide more information to you. You can see why this process of asking and receiving is so important to you and your world because if you do not have the models, then people will not see what is possible for themselves and remain mired in their own views or those views that people give to them, which for the most part, are centered in fantasy and speculations.

Picture yourself with the knowledge and power to create new creations in the universe. What will you create and why? What kinds of creations are important to you and why are they important? Do you want to create only fanciful designs or do you want to design some elements that have significance and meaning into them? New designs always have meaning in them for the designers but there are other designs that create meaning for many others as well in that they give a place and challenges to the souls of others

You can create challenges of many kinds. What kinds of challenges do you want to create? Do you want to create amusement parks or deep dark forests? Do you want to create physical challenges or spiritual challenges or both? Do you want to create events that transform perspectives or do you want to create events that entertain? If you want to create events that entertain, what kind of events entertain you and what will entertain those that you collaborate with?

Do you want to create events that shock and hurt or do you want to create events that sooth and calm? Do you want to create environments of stark reality or do you want to create events of fantasy and new thought? Do you want to find ways of stimulating minds or do you want to pacify and seduce?

These are preliminary questions for you to think about with regards to your creation in the universe and what it is that you want to do. Once you decide on the general guidelines and formats, then there are endless details to fill in and then the fun of deciding specifics comes down to the smallest gluon.

These are the kinds of activities of the Gods and those that are involved in the design and engineering of events. Some choose to be involved in other areas that are just as important and just as interesting to them. The choices are always there and so are the scope and vastness of the projects.

You are seeing the parallel already to what goes on with you. These kinds of choices and decisions that we are involved in are similar to the choices that you have and they mimic each other. You can make many choices in your current world and space. Depending on what you choose, you will have different experiences for you and different collaborations with others.

At the soul level, you chose to come to this earth and be with those around you and to feel and experience with us. You chose to be in this space so that you could have a unique set of experiences with those that also chose to be with you and help to create the whole game of life together.

At many levels you are choosing what you want to create for you and then what you want to create for others that touch and interact with you. What are you choosing? You have a fairly small sphere of influence now and that is a choice. You may choose other events and creations at any time to extend and diversify what your experience will be.

Until you know that you are doing this and that it is a kind of foreshadowing of what is to come, you may consider life to be just a certain set of events that occur to you and you have no control over them. With this new knowledge that you are actively creating your world and doing so with some level of consciousness, you then become more aware of what you do and what you would like to do.

For example, if you want to create some events that are more entertaining or more shocking, then choose that. If you want to change your identity from passive to active, then choose that. If you want to change what you are creating for others around you, then change that. If you are content with what your life is, continue in the path that you are on.

The important area of your life is that you are now empowered with more knowledge about what you can do and how what you do now changes life for others and shapes what you do in the future when you go to other domains. Do what you enjoy and do it in ways that stimulate and excite your senses and mind to further accomplishments that will expand your possibilities and actions in the worlds to come.
